

The new IFRS 20: Regulatory Assets and Regulatory Liabilities between accounting innovation and financial statement impacts”

The Italian Standard Setter Organismo Italiano di Contabilità (OIC) is hosting a conference dedicated to the new international standard IFRS 20 (Regulatory Assets and Regulatory Liabilities) for the next 18 November.

The introduction of IFRS 20 marks a fundamental milestone in the accounting treatment of rate-regulated activities, establishing a coherent, internationally harmonized framework designed to improve transparency and comparability across financial statements.

This conference aims to provide an in-depth and rigorous analysis of the application requirements, new accounting rules, and operational and financial impacts for regulated entities and industry stakeholders.

Through the contributions of experts, regulators, and professionals, the event will serve as a crucial opportunity to examine transition challenges and the true and fair presentation of corporate performance.
